

Rt Hon Sir Keir Starmer MP
10 Downing Street

24 July 2024

Dear Prime Minister,

Congratulations on Labour's election success and your appointment as Prime Minister.

You take office at a pivotal moment in history. Climate change and nature's destruction are the two defining challenges of our time. June 2024 was the twelfth consecutive month where global temperatures reached 1.5°C above pre-industrial averages—and almost one million species are currently at risk of extinction. The next five years are our last, best chance to “keep 1.5°C alive” and to put biodiversity loss firmly in reverse.

Climate change and nature loss are interlinked and mutually reinforcing. As the effects of climate change worsen—droughts, heatwaves, wildfires, and flooding—nature is increasingly threatened. And as species extinction and ecosystem loss rises, our natural world's ability to buffer those effects and support our livelihoods decreases.

Action on climate and nature will not only protect against these worsening impacts, it also enables us to take advantage of the huge opportunities in the transition to a zero carbon, nature positive future. Opportunities including job creation; strengthening our energy and food security; boosting our health, wellbeing, and prosperity; restoring our precious natural environment—and, crucially, repositioning the UK as a global climate leader.

This Labour Government, led by you, has a small and closing window to follow what the science demands—something that has not been delivered by any Government. You have a responsibility, at the outset of this Parliament, to ensure that the UK plays its full role in tackling (as you state in your manifesto) “the greatest, long-term, global challenge we face”. The UK has pre-existing international obligations to not pass the 1.5°C threshold (Paris Agreement 2015), and to halt and reverse nature loss by 2030 (Kunming-Montreal Global Biodiversity Framework 2022). These are strong, viable, science-backed targets; but currently there is no integrated statutory framework in place in UK law to ensure that we achieve them.

This is why we call on you and the UK Government to support new, joined-up climate and nature legislation—the Climate and Nature Bill. The CAN Bill is the only proposed legislation, written by scientists, that will ensure the UK does what's required to fully meet our 2030 targets. With the backing of over 200 world-leading experts, it is the only proposed legislation that matches the urgency of what the science demands with the UK meeting domestically what it has committed to internationally. By following the best-available science; by integrating our climate and nature plans—and by locking, into law, our internationally-agreed obligations—the UK can, through this Bill, reclaim its historic leadership role ahead of the upcoming UN COP16 and COP29 summits.

By supporting the CAN Bill, you would also send the strongest possible message to the public, civil society, and business that you are serious about improving the lives and livelihoods of current and future generations. New, secure, green jobs. Clean air and healthy rivers.

Affordable, home-grown energy. Homes and workplaces that are fit for the future. Prosperous, happier communities. A flourishing, nature-rich UK. This could and should be Labour's legacy in Government.

This Labour Government has a heavy responsibility of avoiding—by 2030—passing critical 'red lines'. You are our last chance, before a mitigation focus turns to a purely adaptation focus, and we accept that nothing more may be done to avoid the worst impacts of climate and nature breakdown.

We, the undersigned, ask you to give the Climate & Nature Bill time to make progress in the House of Commons in this session. Please do not ignore the science—and please do not ignore us.

Yours sincerely,
